

My Sweet Pokemon Garden

by Keanu Bui

My dream garden is in a hidden place far away near the Pokemon world. I would find it by walking through a hole in a mountain. There is a secret entrance with a finger keypad for me to enter.

One of the first and the most unique plants in my dream garden are Pokeball cabbages. Pokeballs are small, colorful balls like from the Pokemon show. They are used to catch Pokemon pets. I chose cabbages because they are circular not because I like to eat them. When I visit my dream garden to go on Pokemon hunts, I pick up the Pokeball cabbage, peel the leaves off, and throw the Pokeball at the Pokemon which live near my garden. I hope to catch Pikachu, Charmandar, Squirtle, Mew, and MewTwo. I would build a home for them in my garden. My dad could help me.

My dream garden also has popsicle bushes that are rainbow colored with edible leaves. I like rainbows because they are colorful. The popsicle bushes are made of magical ice to keep the popsicles from melting. If you have seen Olaf from the movie Frozen, this is how the popsicles stay cold. The bushes have double popsicles, single popsicles, and bomb pops too. The leaves taste like fruit. Strawberry, orange, lemon, green apple, blue raspberry, and grape! When you eat the leaf, the leaf melts onto your tongue. Can you imagine?

My dream garden also has a food tree with my favorite foods. My mom calls it a junk food tree. The tree grows hamburgers, hot dogs, pizza, ice cream, donuts, lemonade, and cookies. The food tree would be in my dream garden so I could survive. Also, if I had visitors to my dream garden and they were hungry, they could eat. I catch any Pokemon, would probably eat the food.

Of course, my dream garden has a money tree. The tree is green and not every leaf is a bill but some are. When money grows, I could buy stuff for my friends and family. I would make sure this tree gets lots of water to see how much money grows.

Thinking of my dream garden makes me feel happy. I love my garden and I hope all who hear about it love it too.